

Mustang Survival Announces Doubling Of Production Workforce

Aug. 30, 2006 – Elizabeth, WV – Mustang Survival, Wirt County's largest private employer, has just announced a plan to double the size of their production workforce in Elizabeth, WV by the end of 2006. The addition of 45 new employees is the direct result of new contracts from the Department of Defense as well as increased demand for Mustang Survival's life saving apparel across the United States.

"With the support of Congresswoman Capito and Senators Byrd and Rockefeller we have secured new contracts driving the need to double the size of our production workforce," said Bob Askew, CEO for Mustang Survival. "The very nature of our products demands highly skilled employees. We are committed to investing in the local community to build a workforce to meet our needs well into the future."
